PRICE THREE CENTS

FATHER OF SEVEN PREFERS JAIL TO SUPPORT ORDER

Cletus Plank Sr., Gettysburg R. 5, told the court this morning to "shut the door" to indicate that he would go to jail before he would pay a $4 a week support order.

Plank was hauled into court because he was in arrears on the order and was given a number of opportunities to decide to pay the amount. The court asked him if he wasn't "just a little stubborn." Plank said he was.

Judge W. C. Sheely said the court didn't want to send the father of seven children to jail. Plank said he couldn't support his family and have any money left over to pay the $4 a week order out of $55 to $60 a week.

In Custody Of Sheriff

The court then told Plank "If you can't change your attitude on this matter you'll just close the door on yourself. What will it be?" Plank answered: "Close the door!"

Judge Sheely placed him in custody of the sheriff until the order was complied with.

A 17-year-old Hanover youth, Harry Mummert, was given 60 days in jail, dating from May 9, fined $50 and ordered to pay the costs on a charge of driving a motorcycle while under the influence of intoxicating drinks.

"Example To Gang"

Judge Sheely, in imposing the sentence, said that he had transferred the case from juvenile court because: "Since you act as an adult, you will have to be treated as one." The court added: "I'll use you as an example to the rest of the gang who travel with so they can see what will happen to them." After imposing the 60-day sentence, the court said that at the end of 30 days of the sentence Mummert is to be placed on parole automatically for one year.

Dayton H. Worley, York, was sentenced to jail for 45 days, dating from May 5, and ordered to pay $100 for use of the county and the costs. He had been charged with drunken driving and failed to appear a year ago for sentence.

Given 60 Days

Joseph McSherry, Mont Alto, who has served three months of a six months sentence for contempt of court, was placed on parole on condition he pay $20 per week, of which $15 will be his regular weekly support order and $5 per week payment on an arrearage.

Merle Gulden, E. Middle St., charged with driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquors, was sentenced to 60 days in jail beginning May 10 and ordered to pay $50 for the use of the county and the costs. His order also calls for him to be placed on parole for one year after expiration of 30 days of his sentence.

William S. Haverstick, Westminster, was ordered to pay $25 per week for the support of his wife and two children, and ordered to pay the costs and enter into a bond for $1,000 to comply with the order following a hearing on a desertion and non-support charge. He told the court he left his wife because she "was always nagging." "Now, life," he said, "is like dying and coming to life all over again—no nagging." Haverstick told a tale which led the court to advise him, "You can't take on responsibilities and then take them off and change them like you would an old coat."

Must Pay $10 Weekly

Emory A. Dougherty, Pontiac, Mich., was ordered to pay $10 per week for the support of his wife. The order was entered on an agreement between Mr. and Mrs. Dougherty, neither of whom appeared in court.

Joseph D. Strausbaugh, York, agreed to live with his wife and eight children, ranging in ages from three to 16, during a hearing on a desertion and non-support charge and the case was continued generally.

Case Is Not Argued

Robert W. Frock, Westminster R. 3, was ordered to pay $15 per week for the support of his three children following a desertion and non-support hearing. A morals charge against Eugene Jay, Breezewood, was settled.

Preliminary objections to be argued in the action in trespass brought by Klunk Brothers, Hanover, against Aerie and Clair N. Brown, Hanover R. 4, were withdrawn this morning as the argument was scheduled to take place, Judge Sheely said he hoped the practice of raising objections and then dropping them when an argument was scheduled, without any prior notice would cease, because, he said, "it puts the other side to needless expense, and if the objections are valid they should be argued and if they are not they should not be brought." Attorney Richard A. Brown represented the Browns, who had brought the objections and then dropped them.

Install Rev. Forcey At Wheaton Church

The Rev. Ross Forcey, graduate of Gettysburg College and Seminary, was installed Sunday evening as pastor of Resurrection Lutheran Church in Wheaton, Md., a Washington, D. C., suburb.

The installation was conducted by the Rev. Howard H. Ritterbusch, Lansdowne, Md., president of the Eastern Conference of the Maryland Synod, and Dr. Ralph R. Gresh, pastor of St. James Lutheran Church here, delivered the charge to the pastor in the subject "Demands of the Ministry."

The Rev. Mr. Forcey was pastor of St. Stephen's Church in Baltimore before going to his present charge.

Mrs. Forcey is the former Lena Hartzell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hartzell, Lincolnway East. The Hartzells, Mrs. Gresh and Mr. and Mrs. William Zinkand, Waynesboro, attended the installation service.

ARMED FORCES DAY OBSERVED HERE SATURDAY

A parade of National Guardsmen and Army and Air Force ROTC units of Gettysburg College, with two bands, ceremonies in the National Cemetery, at which Col. Charles H. Gerhardt, Second Army chief of intelligence, was the speaker, and displays of armed forces equipment in Lincoln Square and the lobby of the Majestic Theater Saturday afternoon featured the observance of Armed Forces Day in Gettysburg.

"Coming here, and the opportunity to view this famous battlefield and the spot where Abraham Lincoln delivered his Gettysburg Address does something to one's pride in his country, its military, and in being a citizen of this great United States," Col. Gerhardt declared.

The former commanding officer of the 29th Division who led his men ashore at Omaha Beach in World War II, helped win St. Lo and went on with them to the interior of Germany, was introduced by Captain C. B. Spicer Jr., professor of Army military science and tactics at Gettysburg College, who was master of ceremonies. The invocation and benediction were pronounced by Dr. Harold Dunkelberger, Gettysburg College.

Cites 3 Lincoln Points

"Three of the points brought out by Lincoln at Gettysburg are important today," Col. Gerhardt said, "first, that some 87 years before a new nation had been brought

ASSAULT COUNT DISMISSED BY LOCAL JUSTICE

A charge of aggravated assault and battery filed against Robert Lewis Gardner, 21, of York Springs R. 1, last week by Arthur M. Olson, 224 E. Middle St., was dismissed by Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder Saturday when Olson testified at a hearing that the defendant was not the man who struck him in Fairfield on May 8.

Olson said he and his daughter are employed at the Fairfield Shoe Company and were enroute to work on the morning of May 8 when an automobile, in which Gardner was a passenger, "tried to race me," got past his car and then slowed down in front of him. He said he was turning around at Hiner's garage in Fairfield, the other car drove close to him and scraped one of its fenders.

Struck In Face

"At least four men got out of the other car," Olson testified. "One grabbed the door handle, and someone said 'Let's beat him up.' One fellow stuck his head in the car window and said 'Look what you've done to my fender.' I was afraid and scared. I said 'I'll get your fender fixed.' I looked up and this fellow hit me in the face. I don't

INDUCT 3 IN JUNE

Adams County Selective Service headquarters in the First National Bank building today received an induction call for June. A directive from Harrisburg headquarters notified the local board to send three men to Harrisburg for induction on June 11. The last induction was on May 7, when seven men were sent to Harrisburg headquarters.

Graduating Class At Biglerville High School

BIGLER GRADS ENCOURAGED TO LIVE FOR CHRIST

"For many of you, the formal preparation for making a living is over," the Rev. Charles L. Lady, pastor of the Pelton Lutheran Church, York County, told members of the 1952 graduating class of Biglerville High School in a baccalaureate sermon Sunday evening in the Arendtsville Memorial Auditorium.

"You will be able to get along, perhaps as the bride and groom promise each other, for richer or poorer, for better or for worse, in sickness and in health. But what are you living for?" he asked.

"Remember Andrew, Peter, James John and the other disciples of Jesus? They were making a living at their fishing, but that was not what they were living for. Paul, the first great missionary, was a tent-maker, but Paul said 'For me to live is Christ.' That is what Paul was living for. Are we ready to respond with the same answer?"

"Loyalty To Lord"

"We are often tempted by other loyalties, but loyalty to our common Lord is about any other loyalty. A person begins to realize that it is not enough to be able to make a living. You have to know what you are living for. It is not enough for us to live for our family, nor is it enough for us to live just to make a living.

"None of us knows how long he will live, nor does he know whether he will be disabled and not be able to make a living. There is one thing sure, if we place loyalty to Christ above our job and material possessions, no matter what happens, God will always provide."

Rev. Lady said another temptation was to be used as

PAIR CHARGED IN CHICKEN THEFTS

Charges of theft of 40 chickens last August from the farm of David L. Crabbs, near Silver Run, were placed last Friday against two of five men being held for another raid on Crabbs' henhouse Wednesday night, Maryland State Police reported.

Cpl. James N. Simmons said Thomas Lee Wolfe, Littlestown, a nephew of Crabbs, has admitted the chicken theft last August, implicating Melvin Lee Walters, Baltimore, and two others not in custody. The two men are being held in the Carroll County jail with Earl M. Walters, brother of Melvin; Darrell E. Swegel, Woodworth, Miss., and John Slome, Buffalo, N. Y., for the Wednesday night poultry theft.

The five men, three of them AWOL from Indiantown Gap, Pa., were apprehended in Westminster by Westminster and State Police when Policeman Samuel D. Ibox spotted 21 chickens in the back of their car.

All of the men are to be tried Tuesday at Westminster.

Prominent Military Men Visit Museum

Three distinguished military men were among the visitors from 30 states, District of Columbia, Canada, Cuba, Australia, Egypt, France and the Philippines at the National Museum over the week end.

Headliners of the list were General E. Mollard, commander of the French Ordinance School, near Paris; Col. P. Rorremoe, superintendent of the Philippines Military Academy, and Col. M. O. Salientes, Philippine military attaché at Washington.

MARTHA L. HEIM STATE WINNER IN LEGION CONTEST

Miss Martha Louise Heim, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Ralph D. Heim, Confederate Ave., has been named first place winner in the annual essay contest of the American Legion, according to word received this morning by Assistant County Superintendent of Schools Charles I. Raffensperger.

Miss Heim's essay on "United Freedom" was selected as the best among essays submitted to the state contest by winners of county American Legion essay contests held throughout the state.

She will be presented with a trophy as the state winner at the annual state department convention of the American Legion to be held at Philadelphia August 5 to 9.

Has One Scholarship

One of the awards for the state winner is a senatorial scholarship, but Miss Heim had already won a scholarship in the county contest by scoring the highest rank in the college entrance test given as part of the county essay contest.

The 18-year-old Gettysburg High School senior has been active in a number of fields at the high school here. She was co-editor of the Maroon and White, school newspaper, a member of the Yearbook staff, captain of the cheerleaders, secretary of the Girls Athletic Association, member of the Journalism Association (Please Turn to Page 2)

Orphanage Given $1,000 From Estate

A bequest of $1,000 to the Hoffman Orphanage, near Littlestown, and the income from $5,000 to the Littlestown Reformed Church as a memorial to his daughter, Pauline K., is included in the will of Charles Stonestifer, Waynesboro, which was filed recently in Chambersburg. The estate is valued at more than $100,000.

A brother, Howard Stonestifer, and the Littlestown National Bank are executors of the estate. Mr. Stonestifer died April 26 in Baltimore.

PAYS DISORDERLY FINE

Harvey A. Miller, 26, of Gettysburg R. 4, arrested by borough police Saturday night on Chambersburg St., on a disorderly conduct charge, paid a fine of $10 and costs to Justice of the Peace John H. Basehore Saturday afternoon.

Battle Frantically To Reach Student Trapped In Crevasse

SPRIT LAKE, Wash. (AP)—A young University of Washington student lay trapped at the bottom of a 90-foot crevasse high on the icy slopes of Mt. St. Helens today. Experienced mountaineers battled frantically to reach him.

The youth, 20-year-old Art Jessett, son of a Seattle minister, dropped from sight at the 8,000-foot level shortly after noon yesterday. He and three companions were descending the northeast slope of the mountain after a climb to the summit.

Jessett called to his companions that he was trapped in the narrow ice hole about 35 feet down. He said he thought he had broken his

Mrs. Milton R. Chummel will attend the sessions as the delegate from the Gettysburg Methodist Church.

TWO HURT WHEN 5 CARS CRASH; $1,625 DAMAGE

Two persons were injured in a pile up of five automobiles on the Harrisburg Rd. four miles north of Gettysburg at 9:55 o'clock Sunday night, in which damage to the vehicles was estimated by state police of the Gettysburg substation, who investigated, at $1,625.

All of the cars were traveling north, police said, with two other automobiles, not immediately involved in the accident, at the head of the line of traffic. A tire blew out on one of these cars, causing an automobile operated by Lt. Andrew R. Wilcox, 24, Air Force, of Williamsport, to apply his brakes suddenly.

4 Others Crash

Four other cars following Lt. Wilcox piled into each other, state police said. They were operated by M/Sgt. William E. Weaver, 26, of Shamokin; Donald William Aughinbaugh, 43, of Greencastle; Dorothy Jane Cann Cromatie, 28, of Alexandria, Va., and MM 2 c Robert T. Gallagher, 25, U. S. Navy, of Newark, N. J.

Injured were Anna Aughinbaugh, 27, of Baltimore, treated at the Warner Hospital for a laceration of her left knee and contusion of the left arm, and Norman Cromatie, 10, Alexandria, contusions of the head, not treated.

Damage was estimated to the five cars as follows: Wilcox car, $75; Weaver car, $400; Aughinbaugh car, $500; Cromatie car, $600, and Gallagher car, $50.

Red Denial Of Agreement To Screening Is Labeled "Lie"

MUNSAN, Korea (AP)—The top United Nations truce negotiator today labeled as an "out-and-out" lie a Communist denial that the Reds had agreed to Allied screening of captured Reds.

Inside the Panmunjon conference tent, Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, senior U. N. delegate, told the Reds: "Had the results been to your liking you would have enthusiastically welcomed the product of the screening."

North Korean Gen. Nam Il replied: "It is inconceivable and nobody would believe that our side who is firmly opposed to the retention of our captured personnel by your side under whatever name could have agreed directly or indirectly to your so-called screening."

A recent Allied quizzing of Red prisoners of war showed that nearly 100,000 North Koreans and Chinese prisoners were unwilling to return to Communism.

The Issue Of exchanging prisoners blocks an armistice.

In Tokyo, Gen. Mark Clark, U. N. supreme commander, announced that Maj. Gen. William K. Harrison Jr., will succeed Joy as senior U. N. truce delegate Friday.

Joy, only remaining member of the original five-man truce team which began the talks last July 10, will leave the Far East June 9 to become superintendent of the U. S. Naval Academy.

Harrison has been a member of the U. N. delegation since January 23.

Clark has not announced a replacement for Harrison.

The 37 minutes of bitter debate today produced no progress. But the truce delegations will meet again tomorrow at 11 a.m. (9 p.m. Monday, EST).

Fight Into Bunkers

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—United Nations raiders fought into heavily fortified Communist bunkers Sunday, then directed U. N. artillery fire onto fleeing Reds on the Western Korean Front.

Allied troops used the sturdy Red underground shelters as protection from the rain of high explosives picking off the Communist troops in the open.

Filipino troops on the Central Front, using grenades and bayonets, killed or wounded every one of 40 Chinese defending a hill position west of Chorwon.

Fifth Air Force pilots reported they destroyed 117 Red supply vehicles despite the handicap of low clouds.

Third, Fourth Generations To Serve On May 30

A custom of many years standing, of having sons of Civil War Veterans place flowers on the graves of unknown soldiers at the National Cemetery during the Memorial Day services, will be continued this year with a number of 10- to 12-year-old great-grandsons and great-great-grandsons of veterans participating.

Dr. Henry Stewart and Dr. C. B. Stouffer carried on the tradition for a half century. This year Dr. Stewart will be unable to take part. At Friday night's meeting of the local Sons of Union Veterans it was decided to have a group of boys accompany Dr. Stouffer in the annual strewing of flowers with the hope that the group will during the years to come continue the memorial service.

Decision was also made Friday to read General Logan's Order No. 11, which established Memorial Day, as part of the Grand Army Ritual put by the Sons of Union Veterans at the cemetery during the Memorial Day exercises.

David A. Tawney announced that the SUVR firing squad will participate in Memorial Day services at Great Conewago Presbyterian Church, Hunterstown, Saturday evening, May 24, at 8:45 o'clock; at Mt. Joy Lutheran Church at 10:30 o'clock that Sunday morning, and at Mt. Hope that evening at 7 o'clock.

Past Commander Jesse E. Snyder presided at the meeting.

5,295 Visitors Over Week End

Despite the inclement weather, cool and rainy, 5,295 visitors were in Gettysburg over the week end, toured the Battlefield and visited the National Cemetery, according to Cemetery Superintendent John Riddle.

On Saturday he reported 1,952 persons in automobiles and 720 in buses. On Sunday there were 2,268 visitors in cars and 355 in buses.

forth; second, that the people should re-dedicate themselves to the principles on which this new nation was founded, and third, that our country is a nation of the people.

"From such groups as these ROTC units come many of our military leaders," he continued. "Our armed forces are made up of citizens. It has been the citizen soldier who has fought and won all our wars."

"Our position in the world today is made up of ideals as well as arms. We believe in religion; our enemies do not. We believe in free enterprise; our enemies believe in the power of the state over all; we believe that the individual is paramount; they believe in the horde."

World Leadership

"We have grown under that form of government, which believes in these ideals and which has lasted longer than any other form of government in the world today, until this nation has now reached its full stature and has assumed world leadership."

"What is the aim of the ideology which we face? To destroy exactly what we stand for, by infiltration as well as by military means. We have had demonstrations of the former in several countries. When our time comes, when our national economy is at its lowest, they will strike in a military way. It is important that we do not destroy ourselves by disunity."

"In our civilization the armed forces implement the policies set by other portions of government. We unified the services, and I think we are doing extremely well. We must remember that we are all one team, and teamwork pays off."

"But we must re-dedicate ourselves. If this country is to go on and progress, it will require the dedication of all our citizens and particularly those that wear the uniform of this, our native land, to those principles of democracy noted by Lincoln, embraced by those who founded the country."

Parade At 3 P.M.

The ceremonies in the cemetery followed the parade which moved at 3 o'clock from the college campus through Carlisle St., Lincoln Square and Baltimore St. The College ROTC Band and the Blue and Gray Band, the VFW color guard, members of the Howitzer Company, 10th armored cavalry, Gettysburg's own National Guard unit, and four companies each of the Army ROTC and Air ROTC at Gettysburg College participated.

Seated on the speaker's rostrum at the cemetery were Col. Gerhardt, Captain Spicer, Col. Charles Fulton, Air Force PMST at the college, Edwin Shoop, chairman of the local Armed Forces Day committee, Dr. Dunkelberger, and others.

know whether it was more than once. I was stunned."

Olson was asked: "Would you recognize the man who struck you?" He replied "Yes." Asked if he was present in the room (Squire Snyder's office) Olson said "No."

The charge was dismissed on motion of former District Attorney J. Francis Yake Jr., attorney for Gardner. Through his attorney Gardner had pleaded innocent at the opening of the hearing. Olson identified Gardner as the man who took hold of the door handle, but not the one who struck him.

Pfc. James Treas of the Gettysburg substitution of the Pennsylvania State Police said the assault was reported by Ignatius Angelo, an executive of the shoe company, and that he arrested Gardner on May 13.

Brother Blames Brother
Treas said he talked first to the driver of the car, Benjamin Gardner, and asked him if he "punched" Olson. Treas said Benjamin replied: "No, my brother did." Benjamin, Treas said, had no license and was arrested as an unlicensed driver.

The state policeman said he talked also with Robert Gardner, the defendant, and asked him the same question. Treas said Robert admitted striking Olson. "He made me mad," Treas quoted him as saying. Others in the car "told practically the same story" Treas said, but none of them actually saw Robert strike Olson. "They knew something happened, but didn't know what, they told me," Treas said.

Olson said that the alleged racing with his car, passing and then slowing down and blocking him when he was driving to work had occurred on several previous occasions.

Authorities indicated that the investigation would be continued.

tion which faces people is to place loyalty to country and state above Christ. "We should thank God that it has been so easy for us to live in Christ thus far in our lives, but at the same time we must remember that just as the leads of other countries have led the people away from loyalty to Christ, so it might happen to us, Nations may rise and fall, but the man and the nation who live in Christ never fail."

Two Choirs Sing

"What are your living for? Your family, that comes and goes; your job, that may be disrupted by sickness and strike; your country that may fall, or your Saviour, Jesus Christ, who is by your side today, tomorrow and time without end?"

BOBBY SHANTZ, GERRY STALEY SET FAST PACE

By JOE REICHLER
AP Sports Writer

Little Bobby Shantz and big Gerry Staley, a pair of first-rate pitchers with second-division teams, are setting a terrific pace for the other 164 major league hurlers.

Shantz, the 5-foot-7 Philadelphia Athletics' southpaw, yesterday became the first American League pitcher to win six games as he shut out the Cleveland Indians, 2-0. Staley, 6-foot St. Louis Cardinals' righthander, became the National League's first seven-game winner as he felled the Philadelphia Phillies, 4-3.

Shantz surrendered only three hits to achieve his first shutout in the opener of the doubleheader with Cleveland. The Indians came back to register a shutout victory of their own as Mike Garcia blanked the A's, 6-0, despite yielding nine hits. Bob Feller was the Cleveland loser. The former strike-out king gave up only seven hits but two of them were home runs by Eddie Joost and Gus Zernial to account for both Philadelphia runs.

Senators Split

The Indians retained their 2½ game lead in the American League. The second-place Washington Senators were held to a split in their twin bill with the Chicago White Sox.

Boston's Red Sox remained in third place with a 7-4 win over Detroit while the New York Yankees and St. Louis Browns divided a doubleheader. Vic Raschi hurled a five-hit 5-1 triumph for New York after the Browns had eked out a 4-3 decision in the first game.

Brooklyn took undisputed possession of first place in the National League, thrashing the Chicago Cubs, 7-2.

The New York Giants were kept idle because of an all-night and early-morning rain. The Giants were supposed to have played two games with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Rain also washed away the scheduled twin bill between the Cincinnati Reds and Braves in Boston.

Interstate

(By The Associated Press)

The Eastern League had two new leaders today, but their rise was overshadowed in dramatics by a near-record 20-inning marathon at Binghamton.

The Schenectady Blue Jays, playing the hottest ball in the league, and the Albany Senators climbed into a first-place tie yesterday and nudged the Reading Indians, pace-setters since the first week, into third place.

The Jays did most of the damage, whipping the Indians twice, 5-1 and 3-2. The Senators divided with the Elmira Pioneers, losing, 3-1, and winning, 4-3. The Hartford Chiefs beat Williamsport, 6-4, and then tied the Tigers, 4-4, in a curfew-curtailed nightcap at Williamsport.

By The Associated Press

The Hagerstown Braves and Williamsport's Blue Rocks renew their battle for first place in the class B Interstate League tonight with the Braves holding a two-game lead.

Both teams won last night to set the stage for the two-game series at Williamsport. Hagerstown downed third-place Salisbury 5-2. Williamsport fought off a six-run York rally in the ninth inning to take a 7-6 decision.

Sunbury picked up its second shutout of the season as Dutch Vandervliet limited Allentown to five hits to win, 4-0.

Lancaster completed a three-game sweep from Harrisburg, 5-4.

Snead Is Winner At New Rochelle

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y. (P)—Since January Sam Snead has won four golf tournaments, failed to win two others only because of penalties, and has collected something over $13,000 in prize money. But he still isn't satisfied with the way he is playing golf.

Snead, apparently unimpressed by his close squeak in the dramatic finish of the $15,000 Round Robin Tournament at Wyckoff yesterday, pocketed the winner's $3,000 check and complained:

"This was the worst I've ever played to win a tournament. I don't mean any disrespect to the others, but if I had caught different pairings, it might have been different. I didn't drive very well and my irons weren't very good. I did make some wonderful recovery shots that gave me short putts."

After a trip home, Sam plans to play in the Western Open at St. Louis May 29 and then in the National Open and PGA Championships. He never has won the Open title—the only major crown that has escaped him—and will be defending champion in the PGA.

PENN-MARYLAND SCORES

In Penn-Maryland Baseball League games Sunday Fairfield trounced Wakefield 15-2 while Taneytown downed Emmitsburg 8-1.

TENNIS TEAM POWS

The Catonsville College tennis team completed its schedule Saturday by dropping a 5-4 to Dickinson on the local courts. During the campaign the Bullets won two while losing six matches.

Bonneauville moved far ahead in the South Penn Baseball League Sunday when it came from behind to nip Hunterstown 9-8 in a game on the Bonneauville field.

The winners trailed 8-4 going into the eighth and came up two runs in that frame and three in the ninth.

After pounding over five runs in the second inning, Barlow led all the way to upset Greenmount 8-5 at Barlow. Charley Everhart, who hurled the first four innings, was the winner. Guy Conover finished the game.

Wet grounds caused postponement of the Bendersville-Granite, and Brushtown-Hanover contests.

Out Of The Past

From the Files of the Star and Sentinel and The Gettysburg Times

ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO

A convention of the Friends of the Bible was held in the city of Reading on the 13th inst., which was very respectfully attended. Amongst the delegates present we observe the names of Professors Stover and Muhlenberg of Pennsylvania college, Gettysburg, and Rev. B. Keller—Professor Stover presided over the convention.

Married: On Tuesday, Mr. Thomas King, to Miss Sarah, daughter of Mr. John Barrett—both of this place.

On the 13th inst., by the Rev. Mr. Sechler, Mr. Abraham Sell, to Miss Catharine Gilt—both of this county.

Death Of Mrs. John Quincy Adams: The venerable lady of the late Hon. John Quincy Adams, formerly President of the United States, died at Washington city, on the 15th inst. She was over 77 years of age. Mrs. Adams was a daughter of the late Gov. Johnson of Maryland. Her father was Consul in London at the time she was married. Mr. Adams married her there during his first mission to England. Both Houses of Congress adjourned over Tuesday to attend the funeral. The President of the United States, the Heads of Departments, the members of Congress and all the distinguished officers of government were present.

About 900 persons—two-thirds females—are employed at the cotton factories in Lancaster, Pa.

Daguerreotypes, Good Likeness As Low As $1: The subscriber respectfully informs the public that he has opened a permanent Daguerreotype Gallery, in the house formerly kept as a Temperance house in Chambersburg street, a few doors from the Diamond, where he is prepared at all times and in all weather to take DAGUERROTYPES, in the best style, of all sizes and kinds, and at the lowest rates. If my pictures do not give satisfaction, there will be no charge.

Samuel Weaver.

SEVENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
Local Items: From 12 to 16 loads of cattle have been shipped from this place weekly, and some weeks double that number.

The contract building the stone bridge on the Mummansburg road has been awarded to Mr. George W. The final examination of the Senior class of Pennsylvania college will be held next week.

The Gettysburg Trotting association is at work improving the track on the fairgrounds, preparatory to the July meeting.

One day last week some scamps "shaved" the money drawer at Holtzworth's barber shop in Chambersburg, by extracting the contents, $1.50.

The travel on the railroad between this place and Hanover is increasing rapidly. Sometimes the cars are well filled and generally half full.

Mr. Thomas E. Snyder has purchased from Mr. B. Frank Myers the Weigle property except a narrow strip of the lot, on York street, at $600.

The Salem U. B. in Christ church, in Mount Pleasant township, near Goldens Station, has been repaired and refitted, and will be rededicated on Sunday, June 3, at 10 o'clock a.m. Several ministers from abroad are expected to assist in the services. The public are invited to be present.

The Assignee of Daniel Cashman on Saturday sold at public sale the undivided half-interest in the Lime Kilns of Cashman & Overdeer, for $2,000, William Bittinger, purchaser. Mr. B. also purchased the "Valley Switch."

Messrs. George Peters & Son, formerly of this county, are now conducting the "Fairmount Nurseries" at Troy, Miami county, Ohio.

National Cemetery: In response to a request from some of our citizens, the War Department has issued orders that the National cemetery at this place, be kept open until half an hour after sunset during the summer.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

THE PAINS OF EXPERIENCE
We remember the dire and painful things of life because they leave their scars behind. Experience is our greatest teacher. The child who puts its finger to the hot stove never repeats the experience. It learns something it remembers.

It's so with us all. We remember the many pains of experience. There was a story in my newspaper of a child hit by a car in front of his home. His mother had told him never to t play in the road. He forgot, but as he lay injured on his bed he promised his mother that never again would he go outside the yard.

Many of the most valuable lessons in life we have to learn by experience. We read in books, and people tell us about things we should avoid, but not until we learn the pain of them by experience do we learn our lesson. We abuse our body and often have to pay a grave penalty, but often the experience saves us from paying a greater cost.

Admiral Peary made several attempts to discover the North Pole before he was successful. Each time, however, he painfully learned something new. He endured hardships, froze his feet, was deserted by many a one, but the pains of experience put strength to his ambition and iron into his heart—finally giving to him his lifetime triumph!

Many a business success has had to have its forerunners of many failures and its full share of painful experiences. Few have been the writers of great books who did not serve their apprenticeship, experiencing the pains of hunger, disappointment and absent appreciation.

In that moving American classic by Stephen Crane, "The Red Badge of Courage," he tells of the youth who finally wore that red badge of courage over his heart, after being schooled in the pains of experience on the battle field. Defeats, setbacks, discouragements—they are growing pains!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Distributed Abilities."

THE FORTUNE SEEKER
If a fortune you are seeking and you wonder where it's hidden.

You must avoid the place where such hunting is forbidden. They are meant for pleasure seekers and for people fond of shirking.
And no one finds a fortune save in some spot where he's working.

No dreams come true with wishing or with wearying or sighing.
No man has found a fortune at his cozy arm chair lying.
It may be near the idler but he'll blindly walk around it
And never know he's missed it until some one else has found it.

This hid in little workshops, by the lathes where good men do things:

Near benches down in basements where the dreamers work on new things.

'Tis never in the play ground, since for that no man designed it.

Whoever seeks a fortune must toil night and day to find it.

mer. The view from the cemetery is a commanding one, and it is an attractive spot about sunset. The order extending the closing hour will command general approval.

In this connection, it may be due to Mr. Wilson, who has charge of the cemetery, in view of the complaints to occasionally hear, as to his rigid exclusion of visitors from the cemetery after the hour of closing, that he is not at liberty to exercise any discretion in the matter. All the National cemeteries are in fact military posts under control of the War Department, which designates the hours for opening and closing.

Married: Kertz-Copenhaver. On the 12th inst., at Littlestown, by Rev. E. J. Metzler, Charles Kertz to Miss Elizabeth Copenhaver, both of Adams county.

Night thieves are beginning to operate on Marsh Creek. Recently ex-Sheriff Bream was relieved of an overcoat, hat and a lot of eatables, and Mr. Jacob Hereter of meat, sausage, bread and pies.

Messrs. John Roth, Gregory Sneeringer and Ignatius Poist, of McSherrytown, have started for Kansas, with a view of locating there, if the country and outlook suit them.

On Saturday three young men reached Gettysburg on a pedestrian tour from Harrisburg. One of them was W. K. Russell, son of Gen. A. W. Russell and nephew of Judge Russell, of this place. They will spend Sunday here and on Monday content with their experience, will take the cars for Harrisburg.

LOVETT WARNS COMMUNISTS ON GERM WARFARE

By ELTON C. FAY

AP Military Affairs Reporter
WASHINGTON (AP)—The head of America's armed forces wants the Communists to know that if they try germ or gas warfare "they'll wish they had never been born."

It was clear warning the United States believes it is prepared to dish out far more than it might have to take in this field.

Against the background of a Pentagon news conference, Defense Secretary Robert Lovett on Friday spoke out against Red propaganda charges that the United Nations had used these mass destruction weapons in the Korean War.

Giving American diplomacy a new and sharp tongue, the Cabinet officer said coldly that anyone who makes such charges "lies in his teeth."

He fastened upon the charges raised by the Reds to nag the negotiators at Panmunjom the tag of "abominable, malicious falsehood."

Lovett appeared to discern something more deeply ominous than mere propaganda in the charges. "It's strange," he said, "if you think back that the Communists' techniques world-wide have usually been to charge someone else in advance with the crime they propose to commit."

He said he wondered if that meant the Communists proposed to use the bacteriological and gas weapons. And then he said:

"If they do, they'll lose just the same—they'll wish they had never been born."

"They open—the minute they get into that type of thing—a vast area which the decent world has abstained from using."

He answers briefly that he couldn't say if that included the atomic bomb.

What Lovett said on Friday by way of warning Reds of the Pandora's Box they would open if they tried germ or poison gas was substantially the warning given the Nazis, Fascists and Japanese in World War II. They were notified if they used the unorthodox weapons the retaliation would be in kind and manifold. They heeded that warning.

The warning this time is no less realistic.

Nerve Gas New Weapon
The world powers today have added to the already dread arsenal of conventional poison gas weapons used in World War I by the Germans and ready for use in World War II.

The new weapon is nerve gas, immeasurably more deadly than the corrosive or asphyxiating gases. It is an almost perfect weapon.

It has no odor or color to tell of its presence. It produces, quickly, a paralysis of the nerves and of all control of the body, including respiration. If it has any good feature, it is only that death comes quickly if not painlessly.

Nerve gas was a discovery of Nazi scientists.

Says U.S. Policy Is "Inadequate, Costly"

PITTSBURGH (AP)—John Foster Dulles, who recently resigned as a Republican adviser to Secretary of State Acheson, thinks U. S. foreign policy since World War II has been "dangerously inadequate" and too costly.

Speaking at a forum of the Pittsburgh Foreign Policy Association Thursday, Dulles said, "The country's principal policy since the war has been a sporadic reaction to Soviet action."

"At a time when 800 million people—one third of all the people there are—are subject to ruthless, terrorist despotism and being whipped, by fanatics, into a force for aggression, we talk of containment and stalemate as satisfactory goals."

"The administration's policies, by committing us to the defensive in the face of such offensive, expose us to eventual defeat."

NATIVE BISHOP NAMED

KABGAYI, Belgian Congo (AP)—The first Mututsi ever to become a Catholic Bishop has just been appointed. He is Bishop Louis Bigirumwami, 47, a born nobleman of the Mututsi tribe, where average individuals measure over six feet. Titular bishop of Garriana and apostolic vicar of Nyundo, the native bishop takes over a new vicariate, administered exclusively by native clergy.

GUAM (AP)—More than 300 young Guamanians are in the U. S. armed services, including about 200 fighting in Korea as part of California's 40th Division.

Once you own a new International Truck, you'll never be quite satisfied with anything less.

The reasons are simple. International Trucks are engineered for your job. You get a truck that is easier to handle . . . that gives you lower operating and maintenance costs, longer truck life.

These are just a few of the reasons why so many International Truck owners are repeat buyers. Why not stop in soon for all the reasons?

You'll do better with these International Truck features:

- All-truck engines—exclusively for truck work—built in the world's largest truck engine plant.
- The "roomiest, most comfortable cab on the road"—the Comfo-Vision Cab designed by drivers for drivers.
- Super-steering system—more positive control, easier handling and 37° turning angle.
- The traditional truck toughness that has kept International first in heavy-duty truck sales for 20 straight years.
- The truck engineered for your job, selected from the world's most complete line . . . 115 basic models, from 1/2-ton pickups to 90,000 pounds GVW ratings.
- America's largest exclusive truck service organization.

International L-160 series offers GVW ratings from 14,000 to 16,500 lbs., 130 to 172-in. wheelbases.

PERHAPS REDS CONCEIVED A LEAKY FAUCET?

(The Associated Press)

I see where the Russians are pushing a claim that they invented plumber's tools. This is one claim I would be in favor of letting pass without violent dispute. Even if they didn't invent the monkey wrench, for instance, they've turned the business of throwing one into a fine art. Maybe they also invented the leaky faucet.

However, at about the same time our former allies were thumping their chests about tools, they were also demanding that such "capitalistic" terms as "king" and "queen" be removed from the ancient and honorable game of chess. The newspaper account I read of this disturbing situation added that the Communists want to substitute "socialistic" identifications for chessmen, like "Stakhanovite," which means a high-production worker.

Chess players of my acquaintance—I know two—greeted the news without comment and vague pre-occupied smiles and went back to dreaming up gambits or whatever it is chess players dream about.

Name Of Disease

Personally, I never got beyond parched, but I think that we ought to unite now, before it's too late, to keep kings and queens in chess. I doubt very much, of course, whether Stakhanovite as a chess term will ever sweep the game-playing world. It might, however, get by for a name of a disease or for something spelunkers would find in a damp cave.

This attack on chess terminology, made in the name of ideology, obviously is a wily Red move to upset the very basis of our American system of identification. The next thing we know they'll push a formal resolution to re-name certain products "stakhanovite-size cigarettes."

I'm sure American employers as well as the Soviet masters appreciate high production workers, but somehow the words seem to lack the excitement and superlative quality with which the simple one-syllable "king" and "queen" are endowed.

For instance, no poet worth publication could ever make anything memorable of the line, "Wake me early, mother, for I'm to be Stakhanovite of the May," or even, "Wake me early, mother, for I'm the top production worker for the month of May."

How About Queens?

If these insidious devils were successful in putting over a new superlative, a whole American industry will disappear overnight. What would happen to the thousands of comely young women in bathing suits who each year get their pictures in the newspapers and start on a model's career by being selected "Rose Queen," "Orange Queen," "Queen of the Mardi Gras," and a few thousand other such titles? And all the kings-of-everything from used cars to broccoli, from hoboos to Christmas trees? Calling any one of these a Stakhanovite or a production worker would be a real come-down.

And finally, what would happen to children if the royalty of their fairy stories were swept away and replaced with an imaginary figure clothed in dungarees and work-shirt instead of ermine robe and crown? I'll bet that the kids would actually stop believing in those wonderful stories. Psychiatrists would have a busy time trying to get them straightened out mentally to face the dismal prospect of growing up, because, one of them told me, kings and queens are representations of parents to kids and they work out resentments in fairy tales.

But I suppose the Russians would let us keep a few kings and queens in those stories—the ones that start "One upon a time there was a wicked king and his cruel queen..." But instead of suffering little princesses and brave young princes, there would be only those dreary little Stakhanovites to overcome them.

Let's leave chess terms alone.

Italian Picture Industry Prospers

ROME (AP)—The Italian film industry has burst into extraordinary vitality since the fall of Fascism and the end of World War II.

The nation exported 3,733 films made after the war to 63 different countries between 1946 to 1951. Studios, badly damaged by air attacks, have been rebuilt.

An official publication released by the Italian government disclosed that there are now over 12,000 movie halls, compared with 5,236 in 1942.

Film imports have decreased rapidly as Italian production improved. While Italy imported 850 foreign films in 1946, only 342 were brought into the country in 1951.

They struck back by removing polling places so voters could park freely at polls in residential areas.

Navy's Severest Critic Discharged

PEARL HARBOR (AP)—Seaman Bruce S. Hopping, wealthy son of a New Jersey lumber family, was sentenced to a bad conduct discharge from the U.S. Navy on Friday after his conviction on charges of criticizing naval discipline.

The 30-year-old reservist, vice president of his father's Ripley-Hopping Lumber Company of Port Newark, immediately told reporters "we need an investigation of the whole court-martial setup."

A special Navy court-martial, conspiring to criticize Navy discipline and discrediting his superiors aboard the salvage ship reclaimer.

Hopping's attorney, Hyman M. Greenstein, said he would appeal. A Pearl Harbor legal officer said an appeal if carried to Washington could take four months. During his appeal Hopping will be restricted to the receiving station at Pearl Harbor as a prisoner at large.

A bad conduct discharge would deprive him of veteran benefits.

Things Of The Soil

CONTROL OF CABBAGE WORMS

Three kinds (not one) of gnawing worms or caterpillars attack cabbage plants in this latitude, all likely to cause severe damage at any stage of growth from the plant bed to the maturing head. Too often gardeners postpone effective action against these foes until hordes multiply and heavy losses are suffered. The wiser course, of course, is to learn fully all demonstrated measures of combat in advance of the season and then be armed with both knowledge and weapons to repel the assaults when they come.

The best known of these three cabbage foes is the common cabbage caterpillar, a light green worm, occasionally striped. It is easily identified by its velvety skin. It is correctly known as the imported cabbage worm.

The second is likewise easy to identify because it belongs to the so-called loopers, characterized by its odd looping movement when it travels. It, too, is a light green.

The third may occasionally be overlooked because it is smaller than the other two larvae although it often causes heavy damage to cabbage leaves. It is the young of the diamondback moth, a slender worm that is recognized by its habit of agile wriggling when disturbed and the familiar trick of dropping from the leaf and hanging by a single thread which it plays out as it falls.

All three pests feed ravenously on cabbage leaves and are found wherever this vegetable is grown. Control is not at all difficult or costly. The major key is found in the importance of starting combat as soon as the first worms arrive. Not only does this alertness render fewer the number of worms to combat, but it prevents serious damage to the plants.

Many federal and state sources of advice recommend DDT for this task before heads begin to form and rotenone after heading begins. The editor cannot possibly subscribe to this method. Until more is definitely known about the perils of DDT used directly on edible portions of plants, we are standing firm on the decision to bar this poison from general use. Certainly on such vegetables as cabbage, snap beans, celery, cucumbers, and other crops whose edible parts are exposed the danger is far too great.

There are brands of rotenone on the market ready to use for combating these cabbage foes. This insecticide is beyond question for safety as well as effectiveness. In the case of cabbage it may be applied even after heads are partly formed. However, if the worms are kept killed off when they first appear, there will be few occasions when serious combat is necessary after heading begins.

While these feeding enemies warrant caution and prompt control measures, growers should be on the lookout for pale plant lice which suck sap from the central leaves. Almost the same color as the background against which they feed, these aphids may easily escape detection until the plants are badly weakened. Look for plant lice at the same time cabbage worms are sought. And kill them off at once with Black Leaf 40 as a spray in soapy water or with an application of fresh nicotine dust made when the air is still and the temperature is above 70 degrees F.

NOTES ON GROWING LIMA BEANS

Seldom do home gardeners place enough emphasis on Lima beans in their crop plans. Here is an outstanding food crop that bears liberally over a long production season and is subject to fewer disease dangers than snap or field beans. Yet, there is considerable need for more information about growing and utilizing this vegetable. To date there is little written about Lima bean culture.

Because Lima beans are sensitive to cold weather or wet periods soon after planting in the spring, they should not be started until frosts dangers are past, preferably about the second week in May. Most bush varieties reach edible size in 65 to 75 days, with pole varieties requiring 10 to 20 days longer.

The term "butter" bean is gradually disappearing from general usage, although in some sections of the South it is still heard. Perhaps it is justified only when it is applied to the Sieva or Carolina variety of pole Lima. Certainly it should not be used to designate Lima beans as a group.

Three facts should be stressed

JAP DIE-HARDS THRIVED ON RATS, EELS ON SAIPAN

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two Japanese die-hards who hid for eight years on Saipan Island in the Pacific are described as having "lived like eagles"—on a diet of snails, eels and rats.

Both thrived on their Robinson Crusoe-like experience which began late in World War II and ended with their capture a few days ago.

They came through the ordeal in prime health, though skinny. New details of the episode were disclosed by the Interior Department recently following receipt of a radiogram from High Commissioner Elbert D. Thomas of the Pacific Islands Trust Territory. It told this story:

Taken Prisoner

A Saipan farmer sighted a naked Japanese scrambling up a cliff in the rough Talofoto area, and notified the local constabulary. Heavily armed, the native police and three American officials took up the hunt. The search party soon discovered the two Japanese holdouts on a 100-foot cliff, and took them prisoner.

District Administrator Henry Hedges then gave this description: "These Japanese had been living like eagles on the pinnacle for eight long years, descending at night to search for food."

"They lived on smoked land snails, fresh water eels, breadfruit, mangoes and papayas."

In Good Health

"They made their own sugar pressed from cane with pliers, collected salt from the ocean rocks, caught and ate rats."

"Made tapioca flour and pickled mangoes and papayas with sea salt."

"On each excursion obtained enough food to last four days. All excursions were at night."

"Their fire was kindled by the spark gap of an old generator."

"Only diversion catching, breeding and liberation (of) wild canaries."

"In apparently excellent health though quite lean, ages 31 and 37."

in growing this crop. First, as already mentioned, Limas should not be planted until the ground begins to warm up else there will be a poor stand of plants. Next, heavy applications of fresh stable manure or commercial fertilizers with a high nitrogen content may reduce yields through stimulation of excessive foliage. And third, the covering soil must be kept mellow and crustless or the fragile plants will not be able to break through.

Soils should be well drained and at least medium fertile. A 4-12-4 fertilizer is generally beneficial, broadcast and worked into the top soil before planting time. However, if the soil is liberally balanced with organic matter, acid phosphate may prove sufficient.

In germinating the bean is separated into two halves and these are pushed through the soil. This habit of growth suggests two important steps in starting Lima beans. The seeds should be "placed" individually on their edges with the eye down and covered not deeper than 1 to 1½ inches. Next, the soil should be coated with enough compost, sand or other non-crusting materials to avoid delayed emergence of the tended cotyledons.

If space permits, at least a few hills of pole Limas should be grown for their greater productive merits. With both bush and pole sorts the bearing season is greatly extended by picking beans rather close all season. In other words, to allow pods to ripen means that the plant ceases to bloom and bear.

Mexican bean beetles are not nearly as fond of Lima bean foliage as of snap varieties. But in case this pest attacks either bush or pole Lima beans, kill it and its orange-spined young at once with one or more applications of rotenone dust.

Green or immature Lima beans are expected to can for winter. And with the advent of quick-freezing as a means of storing vegetables and fruits, housewives are discovering green Lima beans among the tastier frozen foods. The late crop may be allowed to mature for storing as dry beans.

If mildew infects the plants, particularly in late summer, dust the foliage liberally every week to 10 days with superfine dusting sulphur and burn all infected litter before winter.

Senators Will Hear General Ridgway

WASHINGTON (AP)—All 96 members of the Senate have been invited to attend a closed-door session of the Armed Services Committee Wednesday at which Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway will be questioned about the Koje Island incident.

A dispatch from Seoul today said the Eighth Army reported a board of inquiry has completed its investigation of the seizure and release of Brig. Gen. Francis T. Dodd by Communist prisoners of war on Koje Island.

The findings have been forwarded to Gen. Mark Clark, Supreme Allied commander in Tokyo, who will send them on to Washington. The nature of the findings was not announced.

Ridgway, former Tokyo commander, is in this country en route to Europe to take over Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's command of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization forces.

Onion Flavor Shared By Many Home Garden Plants

Perennial onions, grown from Egyptian "top sets," give the first vegetable crop of the year. Green onions grown from "bottom sets" planted early, are produced in three weeks from the time of sowing. Through the rest of the year it is possible to provide the indispensable onion flavor from various members of the onion tribe.

This flavor can be produced by some of the cousins in a form which may be more acceptable to you than in the onion. Chives for example, are milder, much less odorous, and especially good in salads and cottage cheese. Leeks are preferred by the British for flavoring cooked dishes. And you must know about garlic, of which you can grow a year's supply in about one foot of garden row planted to garlic sets.

Top onion sets, produced by perennial varieties instead of seeds, may be planted in the fall, and will produce green onions before the ground can be worked in the spring. Bottom sets, which are really dwarf onions, checked in growth by crowding in the row, may be planted in the spring as soon as the ground is prepared.

The smaller sets, sown an inch deep, will produce mature onions in two months, much quicker than can be grown from seed. Use the larger sets for green onions, and plant them deeper, as much as three inches. They grow quickly, but usually run to seed and will not produce large bulbs. From onion seed you can grow either green or mature onions, but it will take six weeks for the first, and four months for the others.

Onion plants of Spanish and Bermuda varieties are shipped from Texas each spring, to be planted in gardens. You can grow your own Spanish onion plants in a flat started early in the house, or hotbed, setting them out when they are pencil size. It will take all season to mature really good size bulbs, but you can feel proud of them, and win prizes in the harvest show.

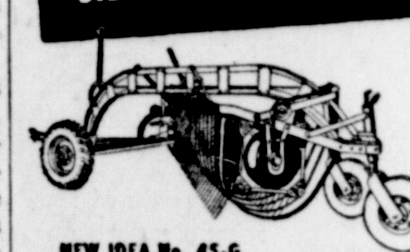

Chives are perennial, and besides producing tubular leaves they bear lovely mauve blossoms. You can start them from seeds, or by dividing the roots of established plants, and they will make a most attractive border for a garden path, living many years.

Leeks are grown from seed, and should be transplanted for best results. The English gardeners pride themselves on exhibition leeks which may be grown in this manner: When the plants are about as thick as a lead pencil lift them, and set each one in a hole made with a dibber. Do not fill the hole, but merely cover the roots at the bottom with earth and let the hole fill naturally. In rich soil the leeks will grow to a diameter of an inch or more.

Germans Take To Incubated Eggs

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—West Germany is enjoying a touch of egg-fever.

It's the incubated egg-cure which helped them to get rid of their troubles, they say. Millions of incubated eggs are being eaten these days.

The simple formula is: Eat one egg daily—incubated nine days—and do this for one month. The theory is that some particles in the egg embryo—called trephones—effect a renewal of the human cellular system and rejuvenate the patient. These trephones are said to be most effective after nine days of incubation.

Walnut Acreage Showing Decline

SANTA ANA, Calif. (AP)—Walnuts, once one of Orange County's chief crops, are fast disappearing from the agricultural scene.

The county produced almost 18 million pounds of walnuts from 17,150 acres in 1923. This year, only 510 pounds were harvested from the slightly more than 1,000 acres which are left.

Two main reasons for the decline, says Agriculture Commissioner D. W. Tubbs, are the codling moth and the husk fly. The moth enters the shell and attacks the nut meat, and the husk fly stains the shells, thus lowering the nut's market value.

The walnut acreage has moved farther north in the state.

ITS NEW KIND OF HORSEPOWER IS SOMETHING TO FEEL!

With its 180 HP V-8 engine, on 125½ inches of wheelbase, many people think the Saratoga is the best Chrysler car of all.

We invite you to take the wheel and feel what happens! There's a new sense of easy power, of reserve power that make driving a new experience.

Its revolutionary combustion chamber develops more of the power in each charge of fuel than other engines can do. One result is performance, even on non-premium fuel, such as you have never felt.

Another result is new economy. It's an engine that scarcely forms carbon at all. It creates less heat. It will last much longer, stay younger on the way!

And with Chrysler full-time Power Steering*, you steer with one-fifth the usual effort... drive with five times the usual control! With Power Brakes you need up to two-thirds less foot pressure... and still stop in many feet less than other cars can do.

Yes, behind Chrysler's new engine you'll find a new kind of car. Won't you come in and feel what we mean?

MURRAY STARTS FALLING NAMES IN STEEL CRISIS

By LEE LINDER

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Philip Murray, still seeking a wage increase for his steelworkers after five months of negotiations, has lashed out critically at the boss of the federal-seized steel mills, calling the secretary of commerce biased and no friend of the CIO union.

The president of the CIO-United Steelworkers said on Friday that Commerce Secretary Charles Sawyer had exhibited an "unthinkable degree of bias" in operating America's basic steel mills under orders of President Truman.

The charge came as the four-day Sixth (biennial) Constitutional Convention came to a close.

Tiny Smoke Signal

But as Murray criticized Sawyer he hoisted aloft a tiny smoke signal for steel labor peace, urging officials of the industry to call a meeting "promptly" and "to bargain out agreements based on the wage stabilization recommendations."

The convention-ending harangue was based on a letter Sawyer wrote to Murray, and which the commerce secretary suggested might be read to the 2,500 delegates representing the 1,100,000 steelworkers.

Sawyer wrote that though most of the steelworkers had preserved steel mill equipment during the recent three-day strike "this protection was not universal."

Murray flatly denied this charge, declared that it was union policy during any walkout to close down plants in orderly manner without any damage.

Noisy Demonstration

Sawyer's letter said "production reports . . . from the steel companies . . . have contained information regarding sporadic damage in connection with the shutdown of April 29 by reason of the lack of necessary standby arrangements to safeguard equipment when the men left the plants."

Murray said if there were any damaged mills it was the companies' fault "because we found it extremely difficult to work out agreements, especially with the major firms, for the standby workers, the number and quality of them, needed to protect property."

Then he lashed out at Sawyer and said:

"He's (Sawyer) no friend of yours. He has exercised an almost unthinkable degree of bias in this steel case. And he's a servant of the people."

Before Murray gavelled the convention to a close with his blast, the delegates in a noisy verbal demonstration voted to raise monthly dues from $2 to $3 and boost initiation fee from $3 to $5.

Ex-POW Of Korea War Re-Enlists

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Seven months of imprisonment by Communists in Korea failed to chill Leonard J. Maffoli's enthusiasm about being a U.S. Marine.

He enlisted here for another three-year hitch after his first enlistment expired recently. Maffoli, a sergeant, was captured in November, 1950. He escaped when brought near the front lines to help handle other American prisoners.

Merchants Scared By Counterfeiters

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—An out-of-town guest at a hotel summoned U.S. Secret Service Agent Tom Hanson after trying in vain to get merchants to accept his $10 bill.

The note — perfectly good — was drawn on the St. Louis Federal Reserve Bank. Hanson explained to the puzzled visitor that 30 counterfeit $10 bills, all on the same bank, had been passed here recently.

OBLIGATIONS OF NEWSMEN CITED

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. (AP)—Executives of institutions must recognize that newspapers have the obligation of keeping the public informed on matters affecting expenditures of public money, a newspaper executive declared Saturday.

Quinton E. Beauge, executive editor of the Williamsport Sun and Gazette and Bulletin, said if institutions heads would accept this fact "their views about and relations with newspapers would be much more satisfactory."

"The public has a right to know about and what is happening in the institutions that use its money, even though the money be in the form of tax-provided funds or public campaign accounts," Beauge said in a prepared speech before the annual Pennsylvania Press Conference.

Papers Not Heartless

"Newspapers are not heartless and cruel in their handling of news and the problems of people," he said, adding: "As a matter of fact, gossip and rumors are far more vicious than any presentation of facts by newspapers."

Richard A. Thornburgh, managing editor, Philadelphia Inquirer, warned in another talk that newspapers "must exercise super-human care and judgment" in writing news.

"Freedom of the press is a great thing," he declared. "But the minute we step out of bounds by distortion of news we are inviting the loss of press freedom."

Ben Coll, managing editor, Johnstown Tribune, said newspapers should do their utmost to educate public officials in the need for making news available.

Too Much Fluoride In Japanese Water

TOKYO (AP)—Japan is one country where they don't have to add fluoride to the water to stop tooth decay.

The welfare ministry says Japanese in 42 of Japan's 46 prefectures are drinking water with too much fluoride with the result that many have mottled teeth.

Japanese scientists did not find this out, however, until the government actually began a project in Kyoto Prefecture to add fluoride to drinking water. Scientists blame the fluoride condition of the water on Japanese volcanoes.

Burmese Chickens Reported Unhealthy

ROME (AP)—Chickens in Burma need vitamin pills to survive, a United Nations expert says.

Jan W. Kelton, Food and Agricultural Organization veterinarian, has found that the high mortality rate among fowl in that country and a generally run-down condition among survivors are due to a lack of vitamin content in the poultry diet.

He said that "it appears that fear of contagious diseases and of parasitic infestation keeps the birds in small runs which contain no natural feedstuff." The birds should spread out and forage for food.

Square Dancing Revival In West

ALBUQUERQUE (AP) — Cowboys from Minnesota and cowgirls from the Bronx are taking up the old Southwestern practice of do-si-do and promenade. Square dancing is enjoying a new boom with a strictly Western flavor.

Dozens of square dance clubs with hundreds of members have started in Albuquerque since the government imported thousands of workers and service men to the Sandia Atomic Weapons Base and Kirtland Air Force Base.

Square dancing as formerly done in the East was a slow dance with a set pattern and grace to burn. The man ramrodding a fast Western square dance is as—on his own as a jazz musician. Keeping up a continuous line of patter, the Western caller fills in the music with a commentary in rhyme, only a few words of which have anything to do with directing the dancing.

"Mac" Warns Against "Military State"

NEW YORK (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur rested here Saturday from a two-day whirlwind tour through 19 Michigan communities with pauses only for a pair of speeches.

The ousted Far East commander and his party, including Mrs. MacArthur, arrived at New York's La Guardia Field late on Friday. He declined to answer newsmen's questions and immediately went to his Waldorf Astoria Hotel suite.

His theme in both speeches was the same: that Americans must guard against "a military state."

BRITISH READY TO GIVE UP BIG CHINA BUSINESS

By LEONARD LEDDINGTON
LONDON (AP)—Worn out by almost three years of constant Communist harassment, British business today was reported planning to abandon its 800-million-dollar investment on the Chinese mainland and get out.
The reported withdrawal, however, will not affect Britain's diplomatic recognition of the Peiping regime.
London newspapers said Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden will tell Parliament tomorrow that British businessmen see no use trying to hang on in the vast Far Eastern country where, until the Reds took over, they had been dominant figures in foreign trade for more than 200 years.
British holdings in China are estimated at 300 million pounds ($40 million dollars). The newspaper reports said the British owners will try to sell the holdings to Chinese government agencies but that no one is optimistic.
Withdrawal Is Problem
The properties the British are reported now planning to give up are located chiefly in Shanghai, Tientsin, Hankow, Canton and a sprinkling of smaller cities. Belonging to firms covering almost the entire field of commerce, they include factories, shipyards, warehouses, hotels and office buildings.
Formerly 10,000 Britons ran the holdings in China. Now the scattered British colony totals only about 120 persons.
Getting them out may present keen diplomatic problems. Some Western businessmen have been held in the past by Chinese Red authorities until their employees were paid vast "settlement" sums by the Chinese themselves.
The Daily Express said the British government had been asked to step in and "help by safeguarding the interests of British employees." The Express did not say how.
The withdrawal would follow a constant and progressive Red cam-

At the Sunday morning masses in St. Aloysius Catholic Church, the pastor, the Rev. Fr. Edward J. Shanahan, read a pastoral letter from the Most Rev. George L. Leech, Bishop of Harrisburg, regarding the annual appeal for seminary funds on Sunday, June 1. Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week are Rogation Days and special prayers are said during the masses for crops. Thursday, Ascension Day, a Holy Day of Obligation, the intention of the masses at 5:30 and 7:30 a.m. will be for the spiritual and temporal welfare of the members of the congregation. Following the late mass on Sunday, registration of the Grade One children for the September term at St. Aloysius School, took place in the convent. Registration will continue each Sunday after the late mass.
The baton twirling pupils of Miss Joan Shull will present a recital this evening at 8 o'clock in the Littlestown High School auditorium. A small admission charge will be made.
The meeting of St. Aloysius Parish Council of Catholic Women has been postponed from May 28 to June 4.

Two Top Penna. Democrats Are For Kefauver

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Two of Pennsylvania's top Democrats are hard at work today trying to convince members of the 70-vote national convention delegation they should support the presidential candidacy of Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee.
Mayor Joseph S. Clark Jr. and Dist. Atty. Richardson Dilworth of Philadelphia threw their support to Kefauver Friday night in a telegram to a nationwide television program ("We the People").
In making the announcement, Dilworth and Clark took a stand apart from other top Democrats in the state who have publicly declined to come out in support of any announced candidate. The state committee urged President Truman to seek re-election some months ago, before the chief executive announced he would not be a candidate.

Two Top Penna. Democrats Are For Kefauver

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Two of Pennsylvania's top Democrats are hard at work today trying to convince members of the 70-vote national convention delegation they should support the presidential candidacy of Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee.
Mayor Joseph S. Clark Jr. and Dist. Atty. Richardson Dilworth of Philadelphia threw their support to Kefauver Friday night in a telegram to a nationwide television program ("We the People").
In making the announcement, Dilworth and Clark took a stand apart from other top Democrats in the state who have publicly declined to come out in support of any announced candidate. The state committee urged President Truman to seek re-election some months ago, before the chief executive announced he would not be a candidate.
Clark's View
Clark took this view of their stand:

"I don't think you can say it's anything more than that there is an honest difference of opinion between us and the others," he said. "They want to go to the convention uninstructed and see which way the wind is blowing. We feel we shouldn't let the candidacy of Sen. Kefauver go by the boards by default."
Among the other top Democrats who say they are uncommitted, are Philadelphia City Chairman James A. Finnegan and Former U. S. Sen. Francis J. Meyers. They were immediately unavailable for comment on the Dilworth-Clark action.
Clark said the campaign for Kefauver would be confined to "verbal persuasion."

Westerners Not Invited
The announcement was the first step, he said. The second will be a scheduled luncheon here next month with Sen. Kefauver as the principal speaker. Clark said all the delegates from the eastern part of the state have been invited to attend.
Delegates from the western part of the state weren't invited, he added, because of the "problem of accessibility and besides the senator is supposed to make an appearance in Pittsburgh before long."
A group headed by State Sen. Samuel G. Neff of Ellwood City, Beaver County, campaigned to get write-in votes for Kefauver in the April 22 primary. Kefauver topped other Democrats in the write-in vote with slightly more than 88 thousand ballots. The latest Associated Press poll shows seven delegates favorable to Kefauver.

profits have been invested in South African, Dutch and Belgian diamonds. Singapore diamond merchants said purchasers spent millions of dollars during 1950 and 1951 on imported diamonds. The Chinese mostly bought the high grade varieties. Malays found the inferior grades acceptable.

Plan Metal Recovery From Smelter Works

LONDON (AP)—A British company hopes to recover 100,000 tons of iron, as well as large quantities of zinc and lead, during the next 20 years from huge, unsightly dumps left by smelter works on the outskirts of Swansea, Wales.
With the leveling of the mountains of slag, sites will be cleared for light and heavy industry.
A newly-founded company, Western Metallurgical Industries, Ltd., is erecting a huge rotary kiln and other equipment bought in Belgium. It plans to employ about 200 men on the treatment of 1,500,000 tons of slag in the next 20 years, recovering 5,000 tons of iron a year.

Would Give Marines Place With Chiefs

WASHINGTON (AP)—A minimum strength of 220,000 enlisted men and membership on the Joint Chiefs of Staff for the Marine Corps have been voted by the House.

A bill passed on Friday by roll-call vote of 253 to 32 fixes the Marine strength at not more than 400,000 or less than 220,000 enlisted men, in addition to officers, and gives the Marine Corps commandant equal voice with the other services on the Joint Chiefs of staff.

But it makes no change in the present status of the Marine Corps as a service branch within the Navy.

The bill goes back to the Senate, which originated it and passed it more than a year ago.

Prized Portrait Has Two Paintings

Infra-red and violet-ray photography revealed the secret of the portrait, which is valued at $8,880. Only one figure can be seen by the naked eye.

Director Daryl Lindsay of the National Gallery said perhaps De Gas had run out of canvas and had to paint over another of his works.

For a season in the sun...

and year 'round fun!

This new "Top-Downer's Delight" rides as smooth as it looks

A single pull of the top control and it's "open-season" for fun and sun with Ford's smart new Sunliner! The new Breezeway Top practically disappears from sight.

Its long, low lines . . . its 110-h.p. Strato-Star V-8, the only V-8 and the most powerful engine in Ford's field . . . make this the smartest buy of all convertibles. Its lower center of gravity, wider front tread, diagonally mounted rear shock absorbers and new springing "pooh-pooh" the bumps and level-away curves automatically. It steers nearly 25% easier! In fact, everything about this new Sunliner is easier for you, from its suspended Power-Pivot Pedals to its easier, safer Double-Seal Brakes.

Breezeway Top up—it's a weather-tight beauty

Come rain, come snow, the Breezeway Top moves swiftly into place, locks easier than ever! And Ford's modern-design body with new hull-tight construction seals out water, dust and draft. You can see in all directions with the Sunliner's new curved one-piece windshield, big side windows and huge one-piece vinyl rear window. And, even with the top up, the rear window section zips out for that wide-open feeling. "Test Drive" the '52 Ford Sunliner. Find out why more people drive Ford convertibles than any other!

White sidewall tires optional at extra cost. Equipment, accessories and trim subject to change without notice.
